Director's Report – February 26, 2025

Community Engagement

The Community Engagement evening held January 9th, was well attended by the public and generated significant feedback. Following the event one of the renderings presented that evening was put on display on the library bulletin board with added information. The public continues to have opportunities to discuss the design with library staff. We have feedback forms available at the circulation desk that patrons can fill out. Many of the comments revolve around family bathrooms, parking, private spaces for work or reading, and a fireplace.

January Children's Programming Break

We had a children's programming break in January as we do each year for planning. Brooke was able to send out her annual request for donations for the Summer Reading Program and we are already receiving donations from area businesses. Programming events have been booked for the Summer Reading kick-off and our special programs.

Book Sale Potential Date Change

The Friends are considering a date change for the Annual Labor Day book sale, as both Art in the Park and the Tell play will be moving to the weekend before Labor Day. The thought is to make the change in order to coincide with other events that draw visitors to our community.
